5. FITA Run-Archery Committee observations / comments

- Number of participants and countries very low
- No external spectators, but a friendly and family atmosphere
- Hungarian Federation did not seem very “officially” involved in this event
- Hard work and devotion from the local organizing committee, especially the people who worked on the target system
- Videotape made of a part of the event
- English translations provided and well done
- Nice countryside environment
- No toilets and medical (first aid) services
- Too long time between rounds, mostly due to target system repositioning and adjustments
- Problem with electronic targets: in some cases the arrows damaged the metal piece framework behind the cylinder – acted as a pin and finally prevents the target foam part from moving and acting the sensor. Also there was a problem on the border line (arrows between the yellow and the black): Raoul noted that sometimes it did not activate the sensor when it should have, although Willem is in favour of the principle that the electronic sensitivity gives the answer on the “hit or miss”.
- 58 % hits in the Saturday rounds.
- Problem with prize money: the amount of distributed prize money was inappropriate regarding the number of countries and participants.
- Stefan said the running lap was too hard for archers
